would have furnished ample rail to lay the extension to Richfield and leave plenty of material to lay sidings. The later decision to take up the light rail as far as Manti gives color to the prevailing belief that the present intention is to build to Marysvale instead of stopping at Richfield.

The distance from Salina to Marysvale, according to the surveys that were made in 1891, is $4.3 miles and it can be readily seen that by taking up the light rail between Thistle and Mantit, the company will have traited enough to construct as fat as Marysvale.

The work of taking up his light rail and replacing it over the mountain with the heavy steel, is just about to be commenced, and two work trains with thirty men on each will work sixt it.

RIO GRANDE WESTERN PLANS.

There Will Be Much Building in Utah This Year.

There is no doubt but that the year ISSE will see more railroad construction in Utah than during any period in the past five years. There is no reason to believe that the Rio Grande Western will stop its present proposed extension from Salina to Richfield, a distance of from Salina to Richfield, a distance of only about twenty miles. In fact, there is every reason to think that the committee based its decision.
